A Grade School Program

Grade school programs may seem juvenile to most folks, but I still enjoy them. On the evening of December twenty-first I peered anxiously into my sister's one-roomed school. The colorful decorations caught my eye immediately. Silver bells constructed from paper cups covered with aluminum foil tinkled merrily from the frosty windows. Placed on the freshly varnished window sills lustrous greens and "Merry Christmas," vtains that were hid- rly eight students d to be quite hi- ed was 'The Tuckers.' e Ma Tucker, a t father, and little ered, spoiled boy. Seniors Continue To Grow

Comparing the graduating class of '53 with the inexperienced group that began in '49, one can see very little the two have in common.

In '49 we were proud to have the largest number that any class had ever had at I. M. S. -- 36.

Since then our group has increased, not only in number but mentally, spiritually, physically, and socially. These changes did not take place immediately. It was rather a gradual process in each individual, a process of growth which was made possible because of consecrated, devoted teachers, as well as through the interest and concern of parents, church and community. We, the class of '53, are indeed grateful to those who have made this possible and have only to regret the wasted time and opportunities which have passed, never to return again.

As we look back, we are certain to see some things we might wish could be undone. Possible there are also things that could have been done which were passed by. Although sorry not to have made the most of all the wonderful opportunities provided for us, we must not look back, but forward. We must continue upward and onward toward the goals which each of us has set for himself.

Whatever these goals may be, we must ever keep in mind the fact that we have a responsibility to put our knowledge and talents to work for our Creator.

It is true that one small light may not make a great impression in this dark world, but combine all the small torches of a number of Christian people and the world truly may see a great light.

Athletics

Success depends on one's ability to follow and lead, to give and take, with calmness and composure. Co-operation in sports develops the talent for such living. True sportsmanship loses much of its zest if the art of play is poorly developed or lacking. Christian sportsmanship and wholesome fun in athletics help us in the completion of life's great drama. Under the leadership of Boys' and Girls' Athletic Associations and the faculty a variety of sports is sponsored for students at Iowa Mennonite School. Football and softball are played in the fall, and during the winter basketball, ping-pong and shuffleboard take over the spotlight. As spring rolls around, track, softball and volleyball are the top sports at I. M. S. A well-rounded life of work, worship, and recreation is necessary to our goal of service. The spirit of individual and team sportsmanship is valuable in attaining and maintaining such a life.

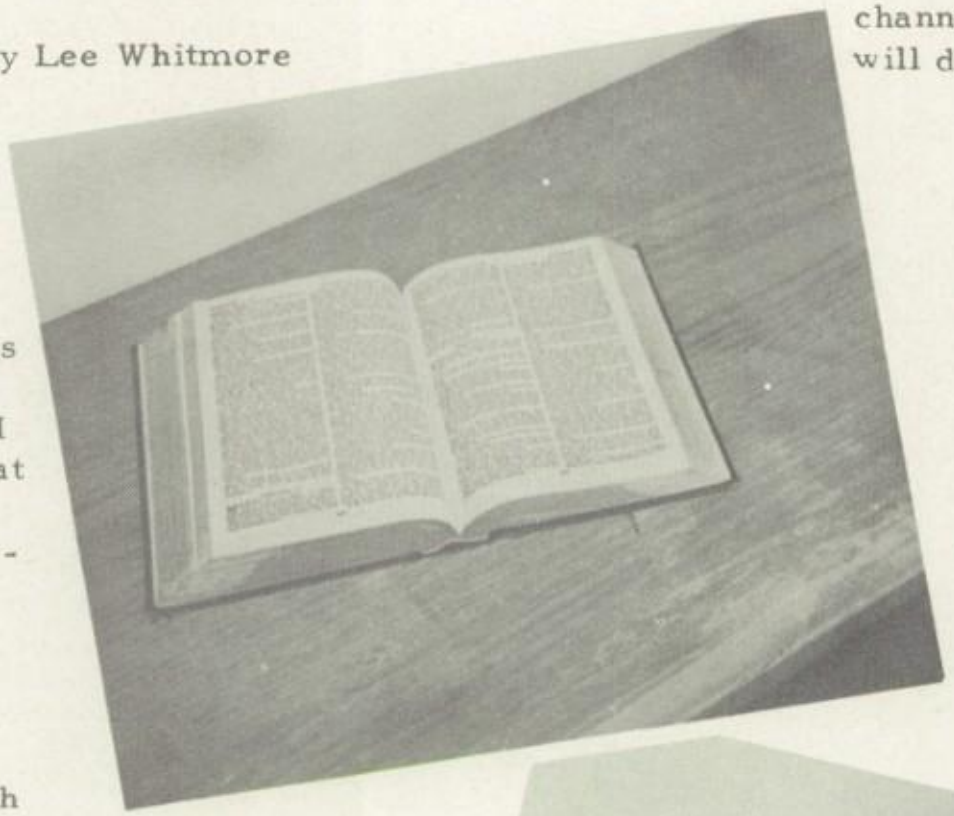
I praise God for His wondrous love that even a sinner as unworthy as I can inherit eternal life. I also thank God for the way He has led me in the past and for the way He has answered prayer. To me, it is a wonderful privilege to be able to attend a Christian school like I. M. S. and want, by God's grace, to live a life that glorifies His name that I may win others to Him.

--Betty Lee Whitmore

I thank God for His great love in sending His only Son, Jesus Christ, upon this earth, and that this Son was willing to die on the cross for my sins. I am thankful, too, that Christ is now at the right hand of God interceding for me, and that the Holy Spirit gives me full assurance of salvation.

--Arvilla Gingerich



Praise be to God that He became so meek that He could save a sinner like me. Whatever God wants me to do I'm going to do it, no matter what I may have to give up or where I may have to go. The Lord bought me with a price. Praise His holy name.

--John E. Bell

Stop! think! of Christ's great love and humility to mankind. He became human and yet divine, was born in a lowly stable, mocked, scourged, crowned with thorns. He bore it all for me. This was not enough; He was nailed to the cross to shed His blood for me that I may have everlasting life.

--Esther Ropp

I greatly appreciate I. M. S.; I am glad for Christian associates, because precious moments in fellowship with true Christian friends and in communion with God are to be found here. At the end of the first semester I could easily feel growth in my Christian life. I believe that the spiritual environment and the Christian service given through channels sponsored by the school will do the same for every Christian who attends I.M.S.

--Ray Horst

I thank God that He led me to I.M.S. He has blessed me in many ways since I yielded my all to Him. Full-time service for God is my prayer.

--Wilma Troyer

"Jesus is all the world to me, my life, my joy, my all. He is my strength from day to day, without Him I would fall".

I was greatly inspired by Spiritual Life Week and want to live a more devoted life for my Lord and in all my ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct my paths.

"The Harvest Truly is Plenteous, But The Laborers Are Few"

To help Christian young people realize and have a concern for the great need of telling others of Christ, one week is set aside during each school year when this need is emphasized by a guest speaker. As a Christian's thoughts are centered upon the need of telling of the great love of Christ to others and as one realizes the sinful conditions which the world is in, one cannot help but have a great desire and urge in his heart to tell others of the greatest story which has ever been told.

It is the tender love of Christ that promotes any consecrated young person to ever want to make his life a life of service in the Kingdom of our Master. When one has experienced the great love of Christ in his heart, and when one's life is fully consecrated to God, he cannot help but have in the depths of his heart an earnest desire to tell those yet in darkness of Christ and His great love so that they too may experience the fulness of joy and happiness which God gives to His children. After a young Christian has begun to realize that many souls are without Christ, that concern should grow continually until there is real compassion for the lost.

The vision which some have received is strengthened during Mission Emphasis Week and where a vision has not yet been received one is received in the lives of more students. As this vision grows, zealousness and enthusiasm to share Christ with others should also grow.

After one realizes the need of spreading the Gospel, and that we are the ones whose duty it is, Christ continually becomes more real to us. One not only more fully realizes what "The Great Commission" really means during Mission Emphasis Week, but one is also drawn into a closer and sweeter fellowship with Christ.

During this week which is set aside, one is definitely made to realize that "The Harvest Truly Is Plenteous, But The Laborers Are Few."

Jessye Hostetler.

Chapel and Prayer Meeting

The students' school life is not all assignments, tests, and study, but each day they assemble in the chapel room for spiritual guidance and meditation on the Word of God. A member of the faculty or a guest speaker leads us in our meditation.

During the students' weekly schedule, two periods are cut short and each class has a twenty-minute prayer meeting. Here those in faraway lands as well as those right here at home are remembered by some Christian student.

Spiritual Emphasis Week

From September 25 to October 6 the first Spiritual Life Week was held with Brother Milo Kauffman, former president of Hesston College, as guest speaker. Christians were strengthened in the faith and given encouragement to live closer to their Lord. Some students found assurance of salvation for the first time. Private talks with Brother Kauffman proved to be very inspirational and helpful.

Again the need for spiritual refreshment was felt among some attending our school. Brother Frederick Erb, Detroit, Michigan, consented to come and bring to us a series of messages from January 26 to February 7. Much time was spent in earnest, sincere prayer that the Holy Spirit have His way among us. Real revival took place. The Spirit convicted souls of their sin and many prayers for forgiveness ascended to the throne of grace. New decisions were made and victories won for Christ. Let us go forward with higher goals of Christian living!

Mary Lois Swartzendruber.

Christian Workers' Band

A group of Christian students banded themselves together to carry out Christ's command, "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature." We call this band the Christian Workers' Band. It is composed of seventy-six members, and each one is ready and willing to help whenever possible.

A number of activities are being carried on, some of which are jail services, Gospel teams, visitation in old people's homes and hospitals, and sponsoring student prayer meetings.

Surely the Lord will bless each one who helps in this work.

The first team, but not the last.

Pea Ridge, Cherry Box, Hannibal -- since January 9-11 these are more than mere names for at least six people. It was then that five students and one faculty member, comprising a Gospel team, made their way into northern Missouri. "Daring to Stand for Christ" was the theme of the program given each night, usually to a small but appreciative group. As these young people spoke and sang they were strengthened in their Christian witnessing, so necessary to spiritual growth. Visiting with and singing for shut-ins was another important part of this trip.

Christ's commission to "go and preach" was given not only to ministers and missionaries; it was a command intended for each disciple of His from Christ's day on down through the ages, even to the year 1953. Praise God for such opportunities and for consecrated youth who are willing to grasp these opportunities!

Literaries

Since this is the first Friday afternoon of the month, let's take a peek at one of the most unpredictable activities of I. M. S. -- the literary societies.

In Room A the Adelphians are orally presenting the first issue of "Joetown Journal."

Laughter issues from the Physics Lab. where the originality of the Excelsiors is exercised as they read the Valentine verses they have just written.

Uncle Remus (Billy Shettler) entertains the Kreittons (in the Biology Lab.) with the old familiar story of the tar baby.

Going upstairs to Room C we find all the loyal Primas on the edges of their chairs, some with pleased grins, others with doubled fists and scowls. You see, Wally and Gordon are debating the merits and demerits of Fords and Chevies.

In the literaries students may air opinions on anything from politics to Iowa mud. While doing this they gain and develop speaking skills. Singing is also an important part of our programs and through this some new and interesting ensembles are created.

Literaries at I. M. S. are educational, entertaining and important to a well-balanced school life.

Mary Louise Smucker.
